SYNOPSIS OF COMPLAINT/OFFENSE On 4-1-96, at approximately 3:00 P.M., Agents Mark Webber, Terri Wild, Bonita Gill and Director Dave Gorman met at a pre-arranged location with a reliable confidential informant. A decision was made to send Agent Webber in an undercover capacity with the confidential informant to Cafeline Road in Livingston Parish. Agent Webber was equipped with a Kel monitoring system to record any and all audio transactions. Agent Webber and the confidential informant proceeded to Cafeline Road at approximately 3:30 P.M.. Agent Webber and the confidential informant arrived at 30724 Cafeline Road. A black female was standing on the porch of the residence who was identified by the confidential informant as Tonia Bickham. Agent Webber and the confidential informant went into the residence. The confidential informant told Tonia Bickham that Agent Webber would like to buy fifty-dollars worth of marijuana. Tonia Bickham said, "Okay", and left the residence and returned in several minutes with one clear bag containing approximately (10) small bags containing green-vegetable matter. At this time, Bickham took (5) small bags containing the green-vegetable matter suspected to be marijuana and sold them to Agent Webber for $50.00 in cash. Agent Webber then asked Bickham, "You got some of them things?", (meaning rocks of crack cocaine). Tonia Bickham asked Agent Webber, "How much?"

Agent Webber stated, "Fifty-dollars worth". Tonia Bickham said, "Eric will take care of that". At this time, a black male arrived at the residence, who was later identified by photograph by Agent Webber as Eric Charles Brown. Bickham told Brown that Agent Webber wanted to purchase "fifty-dollars worth". Eric Charles Brown went to the back of the residence. Upon his return Agent Webber observed Brown placing (6) white in color, rock-type substances suspected to be crack cocaine in Bickham's hand. At this time, Bickham sold the (6) rocks to Agent Webber for $50.00 in cash. Tonia Bickham then handed the fifty-dollars to Brown. Upon completing the transaction, Agent Webber and the confidential informant departed the area.

Agent Webber met other Tri-Parish agents back at the narcotic office where the evidence was field-tested showing a positive reaction for the presence of THC and cocaine base. The suspected marijuana was tested using an E-Pak test kit and the suspected cocaine was tested using a C-Pak test kit.

Both packets of evidence was then labeled, sealed and placed into the safe awaiting transport to Louisiana State Police Crime Lab for chemical analysis. The tape was placed into evidence pending court proceedings.

The Court:

We're going to go back now. Mr. Stewart is here, if you don't mind, Ms. LeAnne.

Ms. Malnar:

Mr. Eric Brown?

The Court:

Yes.

Mr. Stewart:

Your Honor, if The Court would allow I'd like to make just a brief argument in this case.

The Court:

Okay.

Mr. Stewart:

Your Honor, I've tried this case before you with a jury and that was in 1999. Mr. Brown had several different charges on him, but the primary charge was distribution of controlled dangerous substances. The jury came back and found him guilty of attempted distribution of a controlled dangerous substance.

ECBCase12298-00202

Quite frankly, and just to lay it on the line, I feel like The Court may have felt at that time that we had escaped or enabled our way through the system with that verdict. Be that as it may The Court sentenced Mr. Brown to 15 years, which was the maximum sentence available. I've known this young man for a long, long time, and known his family. I know the conditions he was reared under. I know his momma, his daddy. He's been in and out of trouble at one time or another for a number of years and obviously that played a role in The Court's sentencing.

This man, as Senator Terry would say, "Has won the bronze star, the silver star, and three purple hearts." He's proven, Judge, he can be a citizen, and I think we all know that this man can be a citizen, and what I'm talking about is sometimes it's more than just going down and voting. Sometimes it's doing things that's just really not popular. I'm asking The Court to take this matter under advisement and consider a minimum of the sentence on this boy.

The Court:

Okay. Thank you, Mr. Stewart. Ms. LeAnne, I know that you're not necessarily familiar with the case.

Ms. Malnar:

No, I'm having a little bit of --

The Court:

ECBCase12298-00203

My understanding is that you would oppose.

Ms. Malnar:

Yes.

The Court:

Okay.

Mr. Stewart:

One other thing, Judge, if I could add just a couple of things I forgot here. First of all the man's got his G.E.D. since he's been in prison. He's become proficient in various trades in there in different trade schools in prison. And I guess maybe the most important thing is this, his momma right now is in terrible condition, Ms. Arie, and she's got diabetes. I think she's lost one eye. She's in a wheelchair and she goes to dialysis at least once or maybe twice a week, is that right? Three times a week. I think they're in a situation financially where she's fixing to lose her home place there and everything and I realize that maybe I'm arguing for sympathy or something here, but maybe it's valid too.

The Court:

Okay.

Mr. Stewart:

I'd ask that you would take it under advisement and if you'd give us a word in a few days on it, Judge.

The Court:

Okay, Mr. Stewart. I will take it under advisement and I will get notice out to you and Mr. Guidry, who is handling the case, in the next few days.

ECBCase12298-00204

Mr. Stewart:

Thank you, Judge.

The Court:

All right.

(Whereupon this matter was concluded).

Eric Charles was found guilty by a jury of attempted distribution, and as I stated before I thought you were a little bit mean to him to be very frank, Judge, but you gave him 15 years. The Court:

Well, there are some mitigating circumstances that I'm willing to address and make a ruling on this motion. Before I do that, though, Mr. Guidry, is there an objection from the district attorney's office?

Mr. Guidry:

Yes, sir. I'm certainly not in a position to agree to that and my position is that we would stand in opposition to that request, Your Honor.

The Court:

I so note the objection of the district attorney's office, however again, there are some mitigating circumstances. So on Mr. Brown I amend as follows: I suspend all of his jail time except that which he's already served. Credit for time served. Terms of the probation for the remainder of time I've just suspended are as follows: That upon release you'll go ahead and get hooked up with a probation officer, you pay a $50.00 per month fee, and you stay out of trouble.

Mr. Stewart:

Thank you.

The Court:

And Wayne, let's give him one notice for January 23rd to see how he's doing, settle back in, and then we'll go from there. Five years probation.

Mr. Stewart:

Thank you, Judge.
